Materials gotten from this research work was from the school library, internet etc. Data were collected also through questionnaire distribution and collection. Survey research was used in this project, and finding shows that the impart of the sun newspaper on the political development of Nigeria is great and if the masses in caritas university exhibit the habit of reading newspaper and knowing what politics is all about in Nigeria ,there will be positive development in Nigeria. And also those in mass communication and political science who intend to go into politics and journalist profession should assess themselves to know whether they can do it in its ramifications.
